

Arizona Native American Tribal Water Security

PANELISTS:

Biddah Becker

Executive Director
Division of Natural Resources, Navajo
Nation

Stephen Roe Lewis

Governor
Gila River Indian Community

Rebecca Tsoie

Regents Professor of Law
Special Advisor to the Provost for Diversity and Inclusion
University of Arizona

Margaret Vick

Special Counsel for Water Resources for Colorado River Indian Tribes

Jacob Moore

Moderator
Assistant Vice President, Tribal Relations
Office of University Affairs
Arizona State University

EVENT LOCATION

Arizona State University
Decision Center for a Desert City
21 E. 6th Street, BYOH Suite 126B
Tempe, Arizona

DCDC Map:

<https://goo.gl/maps/JjkMgg9sMi62>

An intersection of water issues and challenges

Arizona is home to twenty-two Native American tribes located around the state.

With different geographical locations, water needs and water supplies, these tribes have both similar and unique perspectives and challenges to water security.

The panelists, representing several different tribes and geographical areas of Arizona, will discuss challenges tribes face with issues of water needs and supplies.

This discussion will include how policies to protect Native American rights intersect with these water challenges. These issues will also be considered in the context of broader water challenges in the U.S.

We'll discuss cultural and political issues including environmental justice, as basic water needs and sanitation continues to be a challenge for more remote locations.

Join the conversation!

Thursday | February 2, 2017 | 12:00-1:30pm

RSVP: dcdc.asu.edu/events